OLD FASHIONED APPLE DUMPLINGS.—One quart of flour; a pinch of salt; teaspoonful of cream-tartar; half teaspoonful soda; mix all dry in the flour, then mix each with sour cream,... thin. Pare and core the apples and halve them; put the two halves together, roll them in the dough; fill the hollow of the apple with butter and sugar; ... over the apples, and place in the pan to bake. Pour half a cup of water in the pan and bake in a moderate oven. Eat with sugar and cream.

INFLUENCE OF GASLIGHT ON THE EYE.—The German Minister of Instruction has recently issued a report on the influence of gaslight on the eye. The conclusion arrived at is that no evil results follow a moderate use of gas, if the direct action of the yellow flame on the eye is prevented. For this purpose screens or shades are employed. Grave objections, however, exist to the use of zinc or lead shades, many evils affecting the eye being traceable to them. Their use, it is said, inevitably leads to blindness or inflammation, and other harmful effects. The milky-white glass shade is the best, as it distributes the light and has a grateful effect on the eye. The burner should not be too close to the head, as congestions of the forehead and headaches result from the radiated heat. ... plate below the gas, employed in some places, is especially useful for the purpose, as it causes an equal distribution of the light—necessary where a number are working at one burner—prevents the radiation of heat, and tends to a steady illumination by shielding the flame from currents of air. In cases of highly inflamed eyes, dark blue glasses can be very beneficially employed. With precautions of this kind, no evil effects from the burning of gas need be feared.

At the earnest solicitation of his many friends, a West Hill boy consented to allow his name and business to go before a ...

LADD AND HIS TRAMP

Since the return of the editor from a few days' absence he has noticed in the Boston Post of September 14, the following paragraph very appropriately printed under the head of "All Sorts:"

Dr. G. W. Ladd, who has just defeated Congressman Powers in Maine, writes to us as follows: "I see by your report that Garfield quoted a garbled extract from our lying Whig from my speech. Will you please print what I did say?" The extract which Dr. Ladd authorizes reads as follows: "The tramp, so-called, had been made so in this country largely by the holders of non-taxable property. The bond-holder escaped taxation by fraud. The wealthy bond-holder who used our streets, sidewalks, schools and very expensive police, and other city conveniences which our extravagant city had provided and for which he paid no taxes, was more a thief than his creature, the starving tramp. The bondholder went into his front door to live a fraud. The tramp who perchance might go to the back door, to beg bread which, if denied him and tempted by starvation to steal it and did steal it, was a gentleman alongside of the bondholder, and not so much a thief."

It would certainly require a person of just about the intellectual capacity of "Dr." Ladd to be able to perceive how he has helped his case by the version he has concocted a month after his disgraceful harangue was delivered. In effect—it is the same assertion that a thieving tramp is "a gentleman alongside of the bondholder," and in trying to soften the shameful utterance by multiplying words around it, Ladd has made a bad matter worse, and has only succeeded in exhibiting the peculiar grammatical style of the man elected to Congress in this District.

"Dr." Geo. W. Ladd having seen fit to designate this paper as "our lying Whig," we should not deem it necessary to notice any issue of personal veracity with him in this community or section; but as he has sent his aspersion abroad we feel constrained to say to him quietly, regretfully, but plainly that he is the liar in this case, and that the words which he sent to the Post as those used by him in the connection referred to, constitute a first-class falsehood manufactured by him for the occasion. His statement that the language above given was that used by him in the portion of his speech denounced by us, is utterly false. We listened to his speech and on the next day but one after its delivery we quoted substantially what he said about the tramp thief being more entitled to honor than the wealthy capitalist or bondholder. At that portion of his speech he was not making any reference whatever to our city affairs, but was discussing what he probably regarded as "national finance." The language he has sent to the Post has been arranged since, and yet, like many another person who has tried to twist out of a disreputable performance, he has only succeeded in concocting a version no more creditable than the original, while it will convince everybody that the report of the Whig was correct. We repeat here the disgusting words of George W. Ladd, as noted by us at the time, as jotted down immediately after the speech, and as printed by us conspicuously throughout the campaign without a whisper of challenge from any quarter:

(From Geo. W. Ladd's Speech of Acceptance.)

You see two men walking along the street; one is a rich bondholder and the other a ragged tramp. The rich man enters the front door of his fine dwelling; the tramp goes in at the back door, demands food or clothing, and if it is not given to him, He Steals It. And I tell you, That Tramp is More Entitled To Honor than the rich man who sits in his luxurious Parlor.

THE NATIONAL BANKS.

[From the Providence Journal.]

While the Greenbackers are constantly complaining of the monopoly of the national banks, the banks are steadily reducing their capital, which, under the heavy taxation imposed upon it, yields less than other investments. The national banking capital pays taxes of over $7,000,000 to the general government, and the aggregate of the taxes, national and State, exceeds $17,000,000, equal to 3½ per cent. on the capital employed. The average dividends have been the past year less than 6 per cent. and a great number of the banks are located in the West, where the current rate of interest is ten per cent. Any persons have a right to organize a national bank on an equality with the existing ones, by complying with the conditions requisite for the protection of the public. Those who complain of the monopoly have an equal right to share in it. But instead of this, those who enjoy the monopoly are hastening to divest themselves of it. With the resumption of specie payments, the currency of these banks will adjust itself to the public wants, will increase with the demand, and will retire as the demand falls off, forming a currency regulated by the laws of trade and the necessities of commerce; always sound and convertible. But a currency issued by the government, and restrained by no natural law, would become a continual disturbance of trade and fluctuation in prices. Congress is one of the worst bodies in the world to have the control of the amount of the currency. Such a control would place the business of the country at the mercy of politics; one day inflation would unsettle everything; another day contraction would bring thousands to bankruptcy. Stability is what the interests of labor and capital alike demand, and stability will be secured by the national banks, with the resumption of specie payments, which will allow the laws of trade to act.

The national banks have supplied the country with the best possible currency that could be furnished under suspended specie payments. Those who recall the times before the war will remember the scrutiny to which every bank note was subjected, with a view to its solvency. Now the scrutiny extends to its authenticity. If it be the genuine note of a national bank, its security is not questioned. The only apprehension is of counterfeits, of which there have been few, very few, in comparison with those of the State banks. Nor has the public suffered by the failure of the national banks. Under the admirable system the note of a broken bank is as good as that of a solvent one. To break up the system now, would be to inflict a greater evil upon the public than upon the stockholders of the banks, which, bending under the burden of taxation, are already reducing their capitals and many of them are not averse to going into liquidation.

Says the Boston Post: Senator Bayard declared that "the struggle is in reality for the life of property in all its forms of credit; and if a promise can be paid absolutely and finally in a promise, there will never be performance, and so ends the fabric of credit in all its forms and in all its results of accumulation."

MASSACHUSETTS REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

The following is the full text of the platform adopted at the Massachusetts Republican State Convention Wednesday:

"We, the Republicans of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts in convention assembled:

Resolve, First, that the Republican party, inspired by its past, gathers increased courage for the work which remains to be done, renews its allegiance to the high principles which have guided it thus far and having preserved the nation's existence pledges itself to preserve the nation's honor.

Second, That the Republican party is committed to the maintenance of the national credit and the keeping of the public faith with all creditors of the nation. We rejoice that the resumption of specie payments has been so nearly accomplished, we insist that all lawful means shall be taken to insure such resumption within the time fixed by law. That all paper currency shall be redeemable in coin at the will of the holder, and that both coin and currency shall be kept at all times at par with the gold standard of the commercial world. We believe that the American people are too honest wantonly to violate their pledges; are too intelligent to attempt to use as money anything which has neither value in itself nor represents value, and have too much regard for their honor and prosperity to prefer unredeemed and irredeemable promises instead of money which shall pass current at its full face value in every market of the world.

Third, That the refunding of the national debt at a lower rate of interest should be carried forward as rapidly as is possible; that the strictest economy in expenditures should be used and the industries of the country relieved from taxation, so far as honor, good faith, and necessity will permit. The civil administration should be maintained in its honesty and efficiency by the Executive Department, which should take the responsibility which belongs to it, of making nominations to office without dictation or control from other departments of the Government, and should in the exercise of this power use the same care and good judgment and demand the same fidelity and devotion to duty that are required in the management of important business affairs, and we will certainly support every measure which shall be needed to raise the civil service to the high plane of honesty and efficiency demanded by the Cincinnati platform and the President's letter of acceptance.

Fourth, That mindful of the condition of the industries of the Commonwealth and of the decline in the values of property and in the earnings of labor and capital it is the imperative duty of the town and city governments and of the state Government to use the strictest economy in the administration of public affairs. We demand that the Legislature shall make no new grants of public moneys in aid of private enterprises, that the public indebtedness shall not be increased, that the reduction already made in the public expenditures shall be rigorously continued and such changes made therein as may be for the benefit of the Commonwealth; that the system of taxation shall be so modified that each person shall contribute only in proportion to what he is worth, to the end that there shall be a substantial relief from the existing burdens of taxation.

Fifth, We recommend the efficiency and integrity with which all the departments of the State Government have been carried on, and we denounce as false the charges of mismanagement made against its administration, although the inflation of the currency has caused extravagance in public and private life, and has influenced legislation, without distinction of party, to authorize unnecessary and unwise appropriations which ought not to be repeated, yet the State has been well and honestly governed.

Sixth, That the Commonwealth of Massachusetts has prospered for more than two centuries because her citizens have believed that the interest of each is the interest of all, and have labored together for the Commonwealth, and when this union of interest and action which has endured through seasons of depression and disaster ceases, her prosperity must cease also. They who would foment discord by falsely teaching that our community is composed of hostile classes whose interests are antagonistic, are public enemies whose defeat is essential to the public welfare and should be accomplished by the united efforts of all honest men.

Seventh, That the success of the bold attempt to place an open repudiator in the executive chair of this renowned Commonwealth would be an announcement to the world for the first time in her history that Massachusetts wavers in her devotion to honest finance and is indifferent to the credit of the public faith.

Eighth, That the Republicans of Massachusetts will keep all their pledges and will stand by the President of the United States in his efforts to keep his. We commend the persistent integrity of his administration—his firmness in resisting to the limit of his constitutional power all attempts to depreciate the currency or to violate the plighted faith of the nation, and his constant endeavors to promote the restoration of good will and of social and commercial intercourse between the citizens of all parts of the country.

Ninth, That we confidently recommend to the people of Massachusetts the nominees of this Convention, as men whose character and ability are a guarantee that they will wisely, prudently, and efficiently administer the Government of the Commonwealth.

WADE HAMPTON.

[From the Lowell Courier.]

The great and good Wade Hampton has some unreconstructed spots in him still. It is very much the fashion for union men to extol him and he evidently likes to be praised, and is by no means disinclined to suggest his own good qualities, which make it impossible for him to be a rebel any more. Yet when the ex-confederate gets back among his friends at Edgefield, where Republicans are liable to be murdered if they undertake to hold a meeting or even to cast their votes on election day, he talks in quite a different strain, as witness the following chivalrous tribute he recently paid there, to General Grant, whom he cannot forgive for being the union leader to whom Lee had to surrender. Governor Hampton said of this generous opponent—"Brutal, ignorant and drunken, he hesitated not to crush the people of the South by a paid soldiery." It doesn't seem creditable to the rebel generals to have been conquered by such an "ignorant" and imbecile man, and we cannot but wish that Hampton had not only cleared up this matter, but had shown more fully why it intensified the outrage on the rebels to put them down with "paid" soldiers rather than with unpaid ones who would have had to "live off the country." This last grievance of our reconstructed brethren is past finding out without help.

THE ELECTION.

The almost complete returns of the Gubernatorial vote printed to-day show that the total vote is 125,665, an increase of 24,514 over the vote of last year. The Republican vote exceeds that of last year by 3,394 votes, while the Democrats have lost 14,439 votes. Compared with the returns of 1876 the Republicans have lost 19,466 votes and the Democrats 22,851. In other words the Republican loss is about two and six-tenths per centum, while the Democratic loss is about five and four-tenths per centum. This result is thus stated by the Philadelphia North American:

"The result in Maine simplified the situation. Disastrous to the Republicans, it was destructive to the Democrats. The Republican party has parted with control in Maine, but has preserved its organization intact. The Democrats not only have not gained control, but have parted with their organization. From a second place in politics they have descended to the third, or a painful and unsubstantial minority. They may claim to hold the balance of power in the lower House of the Legislature, but if they attempt to wield it, the slender remnant of their organization will disappear. They can do nothing by themselves, and in lending themselves to either party they must be practically swallowed up and lost. The Republicans suffer a defeat and the Democrats a rout."

The Oxford Democrat well says:

The Republicans have made a strong fight, and though defeated through the ignorance of many voters, they may well be proud that they have fought for the honor and faith of the nation. The party is in good working order, while the Democrats are completely wrecked and disorganized. If the Democratic party had made as able a fight for honest money, they would have saved the State the disgrace which it has heaped upon itself by this vote for ignorance and dishonesty.

W. G. Travellick, of Michigan, in a recent speech, laid out a programme for the Greenbackers when they get into power. It is worth the space we give, simply to see the many-sided lunacy of the real Greenbacker. He said:

"Well, first we will burn the greenbacks, and issue new ones which shall be barren of the disgraceful double-faced clause which adorns the present issue. Then we will say to the National Banks, after giving them a reasonable time to wind up their business, 'Give us our bonds and here is your money.' If they don't want greenbacks we will simply buy silver in bulk—coin dollars—and bid them to back up their carts and take it. In 48 hours after the issue of these greenbacks and the redemption of the bonds, greenbacks will be on a par with gold in this country."

POLITICAL.

The N. Y. Tribune's Interview with Hon. Eugene Hale.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19. The Tribune reports an interview with Hon. Eugene Hale. He said that the Greenback craze in Maine was largely aided by the hard times. Farmers also joined in the movement without waiting to reflect on the result of its success. Communism also had a large share in the canvass. The result only convinces me of the necessity of making a bold and determined fight on the hard money basis. The financial education of the country has been greatly neglected for the last twenty years. Hale thought the other New England States were to a large extent in the same situation, as well as Maine. One noticeable feature in the movement was that it did not last. The strength of the Greenback element in Maine this year was the greatest where it had the least strength last year, and in three counties where they polled the most votes last year, they met with least success this year. The people had become educated.

DOMESTIC NEWS.

THE YELLOW FEVER

More Malignant at Baton Rouge.

BATON ROUGE, LA., Sept. 19. Ex-Gov. [illegible] Bard died last night from yellow fever. Over forty deaths have occurred to date. There are many new cases, and the disease is assuming a more malignant type.

Cases on Plantations.

FRANKLIN, La., Sept. 19. A letter from Pattersonville says: There are forty cases of yellow fever on plantations above and below that place, and twelve deaths. Pattersonville, Centreville and Franklin, are healthy, and are rigidly quarantined.

Terrible Condition of Memphis.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19. The following was received to-day.

MEMPHIS, Sept. 19. It is impossible to give you a correct statement of our wants. Our people are dying on all sides. Money and aid, it seems, will not stay it. We need help to bury the dead, pay nurses, doctors, medicines, and supplies. Every cent we receive is judiciously expended. We need a force to help us. Our number is daily reduced by death. Everything is in confusion.

Signed, C. F. Fisher,
Chairman Citizens Relief Com.

Fleeing in Terror.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19. Southern specials state that the yellow fever is spreading in New Orleans to-day. [illegible] has been closely quarantined. The people in [illegible] Town are fleeing, terror stricken. There is a panic in Chattanooga, where the people had fled to Lookout Mountain. The fever is now at Grand Junction, Tenn.

THE INDIANS.

Fighting, Scouting and Robbing Houses.

TOPEKA, Ks., Sept. 19. Two or three houses three miles west of Dodge City were fired yesterday by Cheyennes who escaped from the Territory a few days ago and who were turned back and broken up into squads.

DODGE CITY, Kan., Sept. 19. [illegible] cattlemen and a company of the 4th cavalry fought a band of Indians yesterday, 35 miles south of Dodge. One or two Indians were killed and one soldier wounded. The military fell back and the Indians went northwest. The Indians have killed several herders and stolen a great many horses the last few days.

WASHINGTON.

Secretary Sherman's Talk with the Sunday Republican.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19. In an explanatory note regarding printed statements of an interview with the editor of the Sunday Republican, Secretary Sherman says the editor does not state as clearly as I think he ought to have done the two points in the conversation upon which we disagreed. First, as to his theory about an "interconvertible bond;" I stated my objections to this, and my opinion that his theory was delusive and impracticable, but said I had always favored a convertible currency—that is, that the holder of a greenback should be allowed to convert it into a specified bond at par until the United States was ready to redeem it in coin. Second, in regard to National Banks, I said that if the choice must be made between the greenbacks and bank notes, I was in favor of greenbacks; but I thought that both ought to be maintained in circulation at par with each other and with coin. This opinion has been repeatedly expressed publicly by me, both in the Senate and before the people. The attempt to construe what I said about my duty as an executive officer, to obey the law, into a doubt about the wisdom of the resumption act, is simply folly. I hope the time will never come when an executive officer will not feel that his duty is to obey the law without respect to his opinions. It is pretty hard for a public man always to determine how to treat the press. I have been very free and frank in communicating news to the press, and in cases of doubt have decided in favor of publication, and have uniformly treated the fair inquiries of editors and correspondents with respect. The great body of editors and reporters are considerate, gentlemanly, and fair, and I take pleasure in giving them every courtesy and facility, frequently answering their questions when I ought not do. I greatly prefer that my answers to inquiries in casual conversation should not be printed. Sometimes they are misrepresented, and sometimes manufactured without a shadow of truth, merely to force a reply or denial. The public, however, is able to gather the truth in a little time.

RHODE ISLAND.

The Bell-Bennett Wedding.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 19. Miss Jeannette Bennett, sister of James Gordon Bennett, was married this morning at Bennett's summer residence, to Mr. Isaac Bell, Jr., of New York. The ceremony was attended by a large number of distinguished guests, including the French Minister and representatives of other foreign legations. The mansion was beautifully adorned with flowers. The presents are said to be worth $400,000.

TENNESSEE.

Attempted Assassination.

NASHVILLE, Sept. 19. A special from Tracy City, Tenn., states that an unknown person fired upon Capt. Davis, deputy revenue collector, and severely wounded James Spears, who was walking with him, at noon Wednesday. Citizens condemn it in unmeasured terms.

LOUISIANA.

Political.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 19. The adjournment of the Republican State Convention is reported to have been the result of the influence of the present State Central Committee, who desire to retain power until 1880, and of Custom House officials who were afraid of resolutions prepared by the colored delegates, who were determined to denounce Hayes and the custom house. The convention will not reassemble, and the State Central Committee will publish an address which is delayed by disagreement upon the financial question, many members contending that yielding to the Greenbackers will alienate Northern Republicans.

The Republican Congressional convention of the Fourth District has nominated J. Madison Wells, J. C. Anderson leads in the Sixth, and Ledoux was nominated in the Fifth some time since.

The National (State) Convention, assembled Wednesday. Nearly half the members are former Republicans acting with Wells and Anderson and the Custom House. Four-fifths of the delegates are comparatively unknown men in political circles.

It is reported that communications passed to and from Beauregard who was solicited to submit his name for nomination as State Treasurer by the Nationals with the assurance of endorsement by the Republicans. Beauregard's friends say he will not allow his name to be used, but the Custom House officials assert that he will accept if nominated.

NEW YORK CITY.

A Mystery Solved.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19. The mystery surrounding the death of Wolfe Adams, aged 60 years, of No. 353 East 20th street, has been effectually solved to-day. He was murdered beyond a doubt and the murder has been confessed.

MARYLAND.

A Bold Robbery.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 19. On Tuesday at the National Bank of Baltimore, $37,500 in bonds, and $35,000 in cash, in possession of Col. Wm. M. Boone, President of the Mount Vernon cotton mills, and director of the above mentioned bank, were stolen from him in broad day-light, in the busiest part of the day; no clue.

There is to be a grand concert in Paris for the benefit of the yellow fever sufferers.

Now they talk of prolonging the International Exposition to the 20th of November.

The total number of deaths in New Orleans from yellow fever up to yesterday, is 2200.

There is no doubt of the abatement of the fever in Memphis, but it is for want of material.

Vice President Wheeler delivered the address at the Canton, N. Y., Fair yesterday.

The New Hampshire Greenbackers held their first rally at Dover last night.

FOREIGN NEWS.

FRANCE.

Gambetta's View of MacMahon's Resignation.

PARIS, Sept. 19. Gambetta at Romans Wednesday, said the resignation of President MacMahon would involve no danger to the Republic, as his successor would be immediately nominated and there would be no competition, yet he said the President would not resign. He ought not and cannot.

No Response.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19. A Constantinople dispatch says that both Turkey and Greece disclaim all intention of precipitating a rupture. The Grand Vizier has ever expressed a strong belief in an ultimate amicable arrangement. The Porte has prepared a circular formally refuting imputations of procrastination in the fulfilment of the treaty, and claiming that the Turkish government has not time to prepare the Powers for changes of government.

Last night the police found a man down on Union street in a very drunken condition and took him to the station house.—His nose was badly bruised and his head somewhat cut. A MURDEROUS ASSAULT. A terrible affray occurred in Burlington last Wednesday afternoon which it is feared will result in the death of a Mr. Haskell. It seems that Mr. H., who is a farmer and shoemaker by trade, has an adopted son about twenty-three years old, who in a fit of passion, attacked his father with a shoe hammer, striking him four severe blows on the head and one on the hand. Not satisfied with this he procured another weapon and stabbed his father in the abdomen, making a fearful wound. He then made his escape and is still at large, the citizens having been unable to secure him. Mr. H., who is about forty years old, is in a very critical condition, and it is doubtful if he recovers. There are various rumors afloat concerning the affair, and it is generally understood that the foundation of the difficulty was the jealousy on the part of Mr. Haskell of the young man's attention to his wife.

FROM WEST WATERVILLE. Crystal Fountain Lodge I. O. G. T. No. 114, celebrated their 11th anniversary last Monday evening, at Memorial Hall. The Lodge is in a healthy condition, and since its institution, has been a power in creating a sentiment in the community favorable to the prohibition of alcoholic beverages. Under the lead of the Lodge, a fund is now being raised for the benefit of the yellow fever sufferers at the South.—Mr. Gilman has met with good success in forming a class in vocal music, twenty-five pupils having already enrolled their names. The lessons are given at his music room.—Rev. Mr. Haskell, of Lewiston, will occupy the Universalist pulpit next Sunday, in exchange with Rev. C. Purington, the regular pastor.—About forty gentlemen went to Blake's Island last Saturday evening, per steamer Ise, and partook of a real genuine clam bake. It was the first attempt in the business in this vicinity, and passed off pleasantly.

PERSONAL. We were pleased to receive a call last evening from General Chas. W. Tilden, who went out as Lieut. Colonel of the Sixteenth Maine, and afterwards became its commander during some of the hardest fighting of the war. We well remember the occasion of our first meeting with Col. Tilden, on an army despatch boat from City Point for Baltimore, the Colonel having just reached our lines after his escape from Libby Prison through a tunnel dug under the walls. On the steamer that night there happened to be some rebel prisoners under guard on the lower deck, and the Colonel rendered good for evil by obtaining permission to take the Confederate Captain in charge and give him a good supper at the cabin table with a number of "Yankee" officers.

First Baptist Excursion.

Yesterday was one of those rare and beautiful days which render the harvest time in northern Maine one of the most charming seasons of the year. Neither too hot nor too cold, with a bright sun and clear atmosphere, bracing and invigorating, bringing health to the invalid, and sending the blood coursing through the veins of those in health, adding new strength and vigor in proportion for the resistance of the rigors of the approaching winter, it was just such a day as, had they had it of their own arranging, the managers of the excursion of the First Baptist Sabbath School would have chosen for their excursion over the Bangor and Piscataquis Railroad to the beautiful and romantic scenery in the town of Blanchard at the terminus of the road.

The regular train on the E. & N. A. Railroad when it left the station at the foot of Exchange street yesterday morning had attached to it five cars, containing about three hundred of the members of the Sabbath School and their friends, fitted out with their lunch baskets for a day's excursion and picknicking, and the early promise of a fair day was accepted as an augury of a day of enjoyment, and which was fulfilled to the letter.

The trip being a new and consequently a novel one to the larger portion of the company, much interest was taken in observing the country through which the road passes, and especially in noticing the fine farms on the upper Piscataquis, which, though having passed into "The sere, the yellow leaf," still showed abundant evidence of their fertility and of the high state of cultivation under which they are kept. All along the route the farmers were busy harvesting their crops, while in countless fields on either hand the golden-pumpkins, warming their red bellies in the autumn sun, brought forcibly to mind the approach festival—first New England's, now National—of Thanksgiving Day. At every station on the road some members of the party greeted old friends, and in many instances found new ones, thus adding to the enjoyment of the delightful ride, until at about half-past eleven the train made its last stop and Blanchard was announced.

With appetites sharpened by their early start and long ride, and perhaps enhanced by the thoughts of the "goodies" with which their baskets were stored, the party were only too ready to avail themselves of the direction of President Giddings to a grove a short distance from the station, where the picnic was to be held. Arriving there, it was found that through the thoughtfulness of those in charge, a man had gone up the day before and made ample arrangements for a nice chowder, with tea and coffee, all of which were smoking hot and ready to be served out on the party's arrival. After satisfying the inner man, each disposed of himself as he saw fit, some going on to the village, others visiting the slate quarry, others climbing the lofty hill, while still others, descending the hill through the woods to the base of the hill, where the beautiful Piscataquis flows quietly and dreamily along, occupied themselves in looking up the valley, upon the lofty and commanding hills, or mountains, with which it is surrounded, or in seeking and culling rare and beautiful specimens of the flora of that country. The three hours were passed delightfully, and all too quickly, when the whistle of the engine announced the time of departure, and fair young ladies, loaded down with autumn leaves, wild clematis and the like, the party were soon on board and en route for home, where they arrived at half-past six, "perfectly delighted," as the young ladies say, with the excursion. There was but one expression, and that of entire satisfaction, with regard to the whole affair. Many expressed a desire to have the excursion repeated two or three weeks later, after the woods have more fully put on their autumnal tints, and when the sides of Russell Mountain and the Blanchard Hills will fairly blaze with their brilliant hues, and it is hoped that another will then come off. Too much cannot be said in praise of President Giddings, Superintendent Brown, and Conductor Swan, for their excellent arrangements and for their courtesy and care for the comfort and pleasure of all.

Evangeline.

The various amusements which are afforded our citizens through the Buskin Club are certainly well patronized and deservedly so, as the gentlemen "play no companies" unless they are first-class, and it is a pleasure to our theatre-goers now the hall has good stage facilities and as good scenery as any theatre, to attend the entertainments given under the auspices of the Buskin Club. Last evening, "Rice's Surprise Party" gave us the musical extravaganza, "Evangeline," in the highest style of the art and as good a performance of it as our large cities are favored with. The music is varied and pleasing and was finely rendered by a good orchestra, led by Mr. Edward E. Rice, the composer. Many of the voices were fine and the acting is especially worthy of commendation. The finest part played by any lady of the company was "Gabriel" by Miss Alice Harrison, who sang her parts very well indeed and was several times recalled,—the very life of the extravaganza seemed from her singing and acting. With the addition of Eliot's "Lone Fisherman," a character which is humorous in every particular and which one must see him play to gain a clear idea of its humorosity. It is one of the most unique and side-splitting characters imaginable—"Evangeline" by Miss Searle, was a well given character and some of her singing was very fine. "Catherine" by Miss Alice Atherton was good so far as acting goes, but she had a weak voice for singing. Mestayer's Le Blanc was fair, but was not equal in its sphere to those above mentioned. Harrison's "Capt. Dietrich" was an improvement on on the Dutch specialities usually given here. The numerous other parts were all that the several players and singers could make of them. The dancing by Miss Harrison and Eliott were especially fine, and they were emphatically recalled. It is not often that so graceful and thoroughly good dancing is given in Bangor. "The Bell Dance" needs a little extra rehearsing to make it equal to what it is evidently intended to be.

Rice's first surprise party was certainly a good one and formed a very pleasing variety of the entertainments which the Buskins have brought here. It was enjoyed by a far larger audience than usually assembles in Norombega to hear anything in the musical line.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

To its Natural Vitality and Color.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately, often renews the growth, and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and stablished; thin hair thickens, and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the Vigor is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

VEGETINE

THE VERY BEST MEDICINE FOR Dyspepsia and Indigestion.

NEWTON, N. H., March 27, 1877.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:—

Dear Sir,—Once more I take the pen to praise this king of medicines, Vegetine. When I began to take Vegetine two years ago with such marked benefit, my friends thought it was a stimulant of [illegible], and would soon subside, leaving me as bad as before. Thinking that some of those who read the testimonial which I wrote at that time, might think the same, I wrote once more to testify through that good. Since I began to take Vegetine, about two years ago, I have gained steadily until the present time, at which I am enjoying my former health, and consider myself cured by Vegetine. Two years ago I was as low as a man could be and live. I was confined to the bed for eight months, and given up to die by eight doctors, some of the most skilled in this State. They said I had several diseases, including consumption, heart disease, and several others, equally fatal, and must die. But Vegetine, taken as a last resort, brought me through, and to that I owe my life. Since my health began to improve, I have made a study of disease, and find the cause of all my symptoms to have been Dyspepsia or Indigestion, and I also find that five cases of disease out of every six are effects of the same cause. When the food is not properly digested in the stomach, it becomes a poisonous, putrid mass, which is absorbed into the blood, and by that it is conveyed to all parts of the system, causing symptoms of disease in any or all of the organs of the body, and if this cause is not removed, those symptoms become in time organic diseases. I have given Vegetine a thorough test in my own case, and also in that of many of my acquaintances, and find it to be the very best medicine extant for Dyspepsia or Indigestion, [illegible] I will willingly answer any letters of inquiry in regard to my case, or the use of [illegible].
Yours truly, A. J. BURBANK.
